

LATTICE

Linking all Types of Teachers to International Cross-Cultural Education

2010-2011 LATTICE Monthly Session and New Member Orientation:
October 7th, 2010 (Orientation 9:00 a.m.- 11:45 a.m.; Session 12:00 – 4:30 pm)
People's Church, East Lansing

Communicating in LATTICE and in the classroom – Where in the World? Personal Mapping

~ Nicole Namy, Office for International Students & Scholars, MSU

Introduction to the Millennium Development Goals

~ Dr. John Metzler, African Studies Center, MSU

Attendance: Afternoon session – 50

- International Participants: 24
- K-12 Educators: 14
- MSU faculty/staff/students: 7
- Community/Guests: 5

Session Testimonials

- Multiple roles and positionality change the way we think, feel, and behave. I will use the personal mapping activity in my classroom.
- I am struck by John's statement about what issues are left out of the Millennium Development Goals; and the need to consider why the United Nations chose those particular goals.
- I appreciated the website (Worldmapper.org) and handouts about the Millennium Development Goals, so that I may bring this information to my classroom.
- The most important message for me was that the world is advancing in the right direction but at an unsatisfactory pace.
- I will use the Millennium Development Goals in teaching my Civics students.
- My district is not very diverse. My students will benefit from exposure to other cultures.

New Member Orientation, 9:00 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.
21 Attendees

- ❖ LATTICE naming
- ❖ Communicating in LATTICE
- ❖ What does it mean to be a LATTICE member?
- ❖ Taking LATTICE to the classroom

